July 30, 2021

Foreside's Craig Moreshead shares Form CRS fines will keep increasing and explains what steps the SEC is taking to reprimand investment advisors and broker-dealers.

In a recent discussion with Ignites, Craig shared how agencies should be diligent since the SEC can constantly raise its level of scrutiny.

There's been a lot of indication in recent years that the technology the SEC has to identify red flags in firms, to identify problems and issues – they're a lot more sophisticated in identifying those than they were, say, 10 years ago.
